Testimonials

“Oliveri and Company has worked with us over the past eight years. They are truly an extension of our marketing department. Their understanding of our marketing objectives and print needs is an invaluable component of our business.”

We operate in a highly competitive industry – construction and general contracting in the State of California. Therefore, effective marketing and communications are critical to success. Oliveri and Company is our turn-key solution for everything ranging from printed marketing collateral to our website design and maintenance to producing our jobsite signage. Value, expertise, and attention to detail – Oliveri and Company delivers.”

- Bob Erskine, Vice President
S.J. Amoroso Construction Co., Inc.

“The value that Oliveri and Company brings to Moana Corporation extends far beyond the customized print ordering site which they designed and manage for us. While the site has made huge difference in terms of improved efficiency and quality, it's not the only factor. It's also the other intangibles that I appreciate. I can turn to them for help with everything from unique one-time print projects to time-sensitive projects to graphic design on-the-fly. By working with Oliveri and Company, I can confidently meet the marketing print needs of all our restaurants and hotels throughout the western United States.”

- Linda Salman, Director of Operations
Moana Corporation

Past Performance and Solutions

- Responsible for all creative design, day-to-day printing needs, print advertising and website management for customer listed on the ‘Top-25 Largest Private Companies’ of the greater San Francisco Bay Area.
- Engineered and continue to support custom, web-based print management sites for multiple clients.
- Each print management site integrates ordering, proofing, inventory management and distribution of all printed materials specific to the customer’s unique needs.
- Manage identity standards and day-to-day printing requirements for customers from various industries including banking, hospitality, software, education, manufacturing, and non-profit organizations.
- Developed and support an integrated solution for a client in which direct mail campaigns are strategically coordinated to promote and deliver at the time of new product launches.
- Designed and continue to manage a custom storefront for a US hotel group in which hotel management may preview and order custom imprinted promotional products and apparel for all of its hotel properties. Oliveri and Company handles all aspects of each order including custom imprinting, etching, and embroidery for all product and apparel orders.
